Dear Fits & Starts Productions, LLC,

Over the last several years, Fits & Starts has done an outstanding job educating people regarding surround sound: what it is, its possibilities and how to easily accomplish your goals without breaking the bank. You have found a way to educate and disseminate technical information to people at many different levels of experience and knowledge simultaneously. In a workshop, attendees have ranged from students to top professionals — all seeking how to transition from stereo to surround. At the end of a workshop, people are ready to experiment with surround.

Over the past six years you have delivered on everything you said you would for DTS, and that is why the Fits & Starts Productions HOW-TO Surround Sound Workshop™ tours are now such an integral part of DTS's marketing effort to reach our present and future customers. We look forward to continuing our "surround" relationship.

Sincerely,

Scott Esterson
